周立波

暴风骤雨

Handwritten notes in Chinese, likely a personal diary or journal. The text is written on lined paper and includes various entries, some with circled words and dates. The handwriting is dense and somewhat cursive. At the top right, there is a date: 1952年11月10日. The notes are organized into several paragraphs, with some sections starting with circled characters like '一' and '二'. There are also some mathematical-like notations and symbols interspersed throughout the text.
